

The Enchanted Tree Trail Stories

Are you Ready for an Adventure?

Hello everybody! Professor Morass here. The Enchanted Tree Trail is based on drawings and stories from the local community.

This is a collection of some very special stories that were created by my young friends from the Hamlet and St. Peters Primary School in Bryn to help bring the enchanted trail to life.

Enchanted Tree Trail Stories

I Saw a Beech Tree Celtic Folklore “Queen”

Wicked Queen Beech

Legend has it that if you feel the Beech tree you will be taken to a castle to meet the Wicked Queen. You will become her slave and you will have to do the dishes, laundry, scrub the floors, make her bed and prepare all the meals.

The only way you can escape the queen is to get a beech leaf to shrink you and then you can fly. If you get any other type of leaf you will fall. You know the Wicked Beech Queen likes shells and gems so you distract her and drop them in front of her. This gives you enough time to take her crown and rescue the terrified fairy who wears a butterfly in her hair.

I Saw a Fir Tree Native American Indian Folklore “Fire”

Fire Breathing Dragon

Legend has it that if you swipe your hand across the magical fir tree you will see a massive fire-breathing dragon. Your job is to stop the dragon from getting to the treasure chest before you do. You seek out the help of the sorcerers.

They offer you the chance to live forever but you have to steal the dragon's egg. If you win, you will never face any dangers or problems for as long as you live. You will be able to head to safety and escape. If you fail, fire will spread around you like a volcano's splashing lava.

I Saw an Ash Tree Viking Folklore “Holder of The Universe”

Travelling to outer space

Legend has it that if you were to whisper to the ash tree you will be taken into outer space.

Where you ride the stars to travel to planets.

At Mars, you need to get the enchanted sword to defeat the Moon Man and escape. You get past the Moon Man on a shooting star and as you travel back to earth you feel the clouds and birds.

I Saw a Willow Tree - The Fairy Healer

Willow the hidden heart

Legend has it that if you place your hand on the beautiful, mysterious willow tree, a magical portal will open and in a blink of an eye, you would be transported to a land of fairies. There is a station here, where they make a potion to heal you.

It is known that the bark of a willow tree takes pain away. Fairy land is guarded by an old wise man and there is secret treasure hidden in a cake. Nearby is the Queen of Fairies and the fairies ask “can you find her?”

I Saw a Silver Birch - First Tree After the Ice Age

Wolves of the Silver Birch

Legend has it that if you were to touch the ice-cold silver birch you would be taken back to the last ice age over 10,000 years ago. There is a massive ice castle and inside there is a princess sitting on her throne with a wolf by her side.

She welcomes you, gives you a tour of her castle, shows you your room and gives you food to eat so you think about staying and exploring tomorrow.

As the ice starts to melt the wolves run away. They roam alongside the first trees, the silver birch. You have to collect a magical key from a secret cave. Your reward is that you have the power to turn into a wolf whenever you want to.

I Saw an Oak Tree King in Celtic Folklore

Kind King Oak

Legend has it that if you were to grab an oak leaf and a stick then you will be taken to the King of the Oak Trees. He has been caught by an army of soldiers.

You find him his armour so he can go into battle. You save the King who is very grateful. The King of the Oak Trees grants you freedom to live with him in his woods where he will treat you very well.

I Saw an Aspen Tree Celtic Folklore “Warrior”

Teleport with Aspen

Legend has it that if you were to swipe your left hand on the mysterious and strange aspen tree you will teleport.

Firstly, to 315 million years ago when coal was formed.

There is a lake with a giant swamp monster and a giant dragonfly that is over a meter big.

Then you teleport again. There is a battle between the Celt and Roman warriors over 2,000 years ago.

The battle has started and you can only get out if you help the warriors. Celtic shields are made from aspen wood. If you are seen by the enemy, you will be kept hostage. You teleport again. You see the moving mountains of coal spoil of the Three Sisters and you touch a huge boulder. You are back to today.

Did you find all of the Enchanted Trees?
